

Les Éditions Do-Sol Publishing

Then & Now © D Morley-R Salagan

Funny the way the world turns, never knowing what you're dealt,
I was vibrant, young & strong, sudden helplessness is how I felt.
The doctors they are baffled, they call me their mystery,
I searched & searched for answers, no signs of anyone, with my history.

Chorus:

I was vibrant, young & strong, but that was then and this is now
I was vibrant, young & strong, but that was then and this is now
Things I used to be able to do, like walking in a mall,
No longer come easy for me, the fear that: I may fall.
Loneliness is present, my family & friends are near,
But do they really understand, the deepness that: I fear.

Chorus:

I was vibrant, young & strong, but that was then and this is now
I was vibrant, young & strong, but that was then and this is now
Each day I feel the difference; will they ever find a cure?
It can't take away from me, my positivity, that's for sure.
But I know that one day, the illness that I speak,
Will take away my abilities, when it reaches its peak.

Chorus

I was vibrant, young & strong, but that was then and this is now
I was vibrant, young & strong, but that was then and this is now

Then & Now credits: words by Deborah Morley music by Robert Salagan all instruments and vocals by Robert Salagan. Published by Les Éditions Do-Sol enr.

3309 rue Flavie, Fabreville, Québec, Canada, H7P 1R4
Tel: 450-625-4764 courriel: rsalagan@videotron.ca
WWW.ROBERTSALAGAN.COM